keep Chief Bruce Wells

FRANKFORT — Election of officers for Frankfort Volunteer Fire Department include Walter Mark, president; Don Clark, vice president; Al Schram, secretary; Louis Johnson, treasurer; Bill Rahm, sergeant at arms; and Clyde Reils, Burnett Schram and Orval Schinkowski, trustees.

Lt. Jessie Nickelson and Deputy Dennis Ferovick of the Will County Sheriff Police Auxiliary recently presented Chief Bruce Wells with 500 Red Ball stickers.

They are to be put on the windows of children bedrooms and on the front door of an invalid's home so they can be found in case of an emergency.

A check for $25 from the Frankfort Woman's Club was presented to the department to purchase additional stickers.

Chief Wells announced that 36 home receivers and three remote bases were ordered by the Fire District.

The District Trustees confirm action of the Frankfort Fire Department which re-elected Bruce Wells as chief.

Apartments' construction hits delays

MOKENA — A change in the building plans Larry Istel has for some property east of Wolf Road at the southern fringe of the village could conceivably make a change in the zoning which already had encountered difficulties.

At the Jan. 11 meeting the village board overrode a recommendation of the zoning board of appeals which had turned down Istel's request for R-4 zoning for the property. Istel had intended building three apartment buildings, each holding eight families, on the property.

Residents along Scott Street complained of the proposed multiple family housing, contending they had been assured that the area would be devoted to single family homes when they acquired their properties. The zoning board of appeals denied the petition for re-zoning but the village board overrode the zoning board's action, with five votes.

Some of the objectors claimed there was a covenant precluding apartments. At last week's meeting of the village board Rex Webb, of Scott Street produced a copy of such alleged covenant dated in November, 1954, and having 40 years to run.

Istel and his attorney, M. Thomas Phelan, appeared at last week's board meeting at the request of the trustees. Phelan contended that the zoning matter had had a hearing, been voted upon and the decision must stand.

"We want to cooperate with the board," Phelan said, "but if the purpose of the hearing is to ask questions to revoke zoning previously granted, we cannot participate."

"If you are asking questions with the intent of revoking this zoning you are acting improperly and jeopardizing my client's rights," Mayor Will Tuttle told the trustees that Istel had informed him personally that he could not now buy the property and make it pay off unless he could build apartments.

The property referred to apparently was that covered by the covenant as Tuttle said Istel intends to build only two apartments.

If apartments are built, all traffic would be off Wolf Road. Under the original plan Boyer Court would provide an entrance and exit to the buildings. The trustees voted to refer the case back to the zoning board of appeals for study but emphasized that the motion was "not to override", last week's action.

Mrs. Carol Kaminsky, who is building a home on Scott Street, read a short letter to the board asking them to reconsider their action in favor of the R-4 zoning.

Mayor Tuttle told the residents who are making the objections that no building permits will be issued until the zoning problems are cleared up.

There was also some discussion by the board with representatives from Brightwood Subdivision, now a part of Mokena. Sidney Bloom and Thomas Phillips appeared at the meeting to discuss the Shagbark Development previously referred to as the Owens Land Trust.

A sewage treatment plant designed to serve this planned unit development as well as a part of the village of Mokena was intended to dispose of the sanitary waste from Brightwood. Brightwood has been clamoring for sewers, emphasizing that is why they annexed to the village.

Plans for the sewage treatment plant along Hickory Creek hit a couple of snags and the village and Brightwood residents then began talking about building a lift station and running the sewage north to the village treatment plant. This would be a more expensive undertaking.

Within the past 10 days, however, the village has been informed that the only thing holding up the Hickory Creek sewage plant now is approval of the plans by the State Environmental Agency, and additional money.

Bloom and Phillips told the trustees they are considering the possible renegotiation of the terms of the contract for use of the treatment plant where the village could assume ownership and obtain state and federal matching funds to help pay for it.

Bloom and Phillips also reported they have purchased the Doogan property, a 320-acre tract adjacent to the Owens property. It is their plan, they said, to annex this tract to the village when their planners have completed their work.

This may be in one or two months, the board was told.

The two developers told the board they had no plans for the sewage treatment plant until 1973, but they had hopes it would be ready this summer.

Brightwood residents are scheduled to discuss this report, before the next village board meeting and decide whether to wait for the Hickory Creek plant or go ahead with the hook-up with the present village sewage treatment plant.

Mayor Tuttle informed the board that the County Zoning Board of Appeals board was meeting at the Cooper-Hostert Garage Feb. 2, to consider a petition of Paul Knierim for rezoning part of a lot he owns east of Wolf Road and South of Maple Street from R-2 to I-1.

The village Industrial Commission is opposed to this, contending that the B-1 C classification Knierim has for the front part of the lot would serve for his purposes for the back half.

Knierim plans to erect a warehouse on the rear 500 feet of his property. At the village board meeting it was reported Knierim will amend his petition at the County Zoning Board hearing and ask for a B-1 C classification.

Brightwood residents are asking the village board to get prices for putting electric wiring underground and also how much it would be if they used gas to light their streets.

There have been arguments as to where street lights should be located. Some residents have complained that the lights will shine in their windows, some want the lights shifted to new locations, and some don't want any lights at all.

A PADDOCK PUBLICATION

OF FRANKFORT — MOKENA — NEW LENOX

Vol. 1, No. 50 Wednesday, February 2, 1972 Mokena, Ill. 60448 2nd Class Permit Paid For at Lemont Ill. 60439 Price 10c

For Lincoln-Way teachers

Back pay amounts to $23,496

NEW LENOX — Lincoln-Way High School teachers hit the jackpot last week. At the regular meeting of the board of education last Thursday night approval was given to retroactive pay to 107 teachers, cooks and bus drivers and amounted to $23,496.51.

Thanks to a suggestion made by board member George E. Sangmeister at the time the wage freeze was on the money that could not be paid out to the teachers was put aside for them. That was done at the Sept. 9 board meeting so when a letter came from the state superintendent of schools' office last week authorizing payment of those raises which were shut off by the wage-price freeze the money was there. According to Supt. Joe Kruzich the checks issued teachers range from $157 to $501.

The board also agreed upon a formula to be followed in dealing with real estate developers in the district. There have been a number of large developments started in the area in the past two years and the high school has been left out of the picture.

The formula calls for one acre per 100 pupils. In the case of a school with 2,500 pupils the site requirement would be 25 acres.

The grade schools have adopted a similar formula as a means to ease the burden imposed by these mushroom developments, it was pointed out, and if the developer doesn't want to give the land he can pay it off in cash at the rate of $15,000 an acre. The high school board is to take up this matter of consideration in lieu of land at its next meeting.

It is contended that schools have a right to obtain land or money from developers under present laws but State Senator Harris Fawell is backing some laws now that would specifically give such powers to schools. The bills have passed the senate but have been moving slowly in the house where some opposition has been encountered.

It was reported that the opposition is subtle, opponents suggesting amendments that would kill the effectiveness of the measures, rather than an open attack.

The Lincoln-Way board finds itself in the real estate business. Building trade students are building a house in Windermere subdivision, south of the school. The house will be completed soon.

When the house is completed it is to be sold. The board is not going into the rental business. As of last week the board had not set a price on the home. The materials going into the house were furnished at cost by the New Lenox Lumber Co.

Supt. Kruzich said that anyone interested in purchasing the house should have their name placed on a list to be submitted to the lumber company.

The original agreement calls for the lumber firm to sell the house without commission.

Hickory Creek assault planned

NEW LENOX — A big clean-up campaign to restore Hickory Creek to its pre-spoilage appearance is scheduled to get underway April 22. The Sportsmen's Club of New Lenox sparked the drive in which it hopes to recruit at least 2,000 conservation minded citizens.

The New Lenox Sportsmen and their counterpart in Frankfort are busy contacting Lions Club members, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, chambers of commerce and all other service organizations to seek their aid in the Hickory Creek clean-up undertaking.

Initial plans were outlined at a meeting of the New Lenox Sportsmen in the Lions Den by Charles Ellis, the vice president of the club. Ellis introduced two photographers, Albert Bafetti and Ronald Reed. They showed slides. The pictures showed the creek as it formerly looked and then how it looks today, its channel and banks littered with junk.

Mayor Joseph Hartung, of New Lenox, attended the meeting, and said the village would cooperate with the club in its program. Mayor Will Tuttle, of Mokena, and Mayor Glenn Warning, of Frankfort, were unable to attend the meeting but those communities are greatly interested in the program and are expected to give it full support.

The program is to be divided into three phases. The first, which is to be launched April 22, is the physical clean-up. To do this, according to those in charge, at least 2,000 persons are needed. The project calls for cleaning the creek from Wolf Rd., at Mokena, to the dam in Pilcher Park. Joliet groups are slated to clear the creek of litter through the city.

The Sportsmen are counting on help from Mokena, Frankfort and New Lenox — and the intervening territory — to get Phase 1 finished. "This is a community project," the club president Charles Johnson explained, "by means of which we can show the rest of the state that an interested community can accomplish what it needed." The Second Phase will be to test water inputs to locate polluters, Ellis said. This will be a function of the Sportsmen Club and its committee on pollution.

If it is found that the inputs are causing pollution proper authorities will be advised, after the polluter has been notified and failed to take corrective measures.

Phase 3 also will be a club function, it was said. When the stream is to be stocked with fish.

It was also announced that the New Lenox club plans to introduce a resolution through its state federation agency, Illinois Wildlife Federation, to urge an increase in the penalty for dumping trash and junk along roadways and waterways and the enforcement of existing laws against such dumping.

Johnson, Ellis, Stanley Ekedahl, the secretary, and Frank Goetschel, the treasurer answered questions from the floor and will be available to answer any questions on the Hickory Creek project.

Lean times cuts social program

MOKENA — The Rev. Frank McCall, who has been ministering to the social and individual needs of East Chicago Heights residents, is to be the speaker when the Mokena Chamber of Commerce holds its meeting next Monday, Feb. 7, at 8 p.m. in the village hall on Front Street.

According to a release giving the background of the Rev. Mr. McCall, East Chicago Heights is a village of about 10,000 population, 95 percent of which is black and five percent Mexican-Americans. It is said that more than a third of the families have incomes of less than $3,000.

Only 10 percent of persons over 25 years of age have completed high school. Illegitimate births and infant mortality run high, according to the release concerning the Rev. Mr. McCall.

In the past year or so his efforts have been on projects which have both economic and social objectives, such as the leasing of a gasoline station where young men of the community can earn money while learning. A grocery co-op for families has been opened and two other self-help projects are in the planning stage, it was said.

It is said that such projects not only aid the people financially but are also developing a sense of worthiness and personal pride. Right now, however, the Rev. McCall is falling on lean times, which could effect his work, it was said. A lot of his support has come from the United Church of Christ and the Flossmoor Community Church. It was said that the financial crisis experienced by the Illinois Conference of the United Church of Christ the Conference has had to reduce its support drastically.

The Rev. Mr. McCall is still provided with housing by the UCC Conference but is no longer contributing $4,000 to his salary. It is said that this has curtailed the program in East Chicago Heights. The

Sign-up for Frankfort winter sports program still available

FRANKFORT — It's not too late to register for the winter activities sponsored by the Frankfort Park District, a board spokesman said in announcing the programs this week and next.

Activities for the most part will take place in the Frankfort school gymnasium on Saturdays. Boys and girls, who reside in the district and are in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, are eligible. The boys meet between 8:30 and 10:15 a.m. and the girls between 10:30 and 12 noon. More girls are needed, it was said.

Next Saturday boys and girls will spend the morning bowling at the Chalk 'N Cue lanes in Joliet. A bus is to leave the school, from the gym door side, at 8:30 and will return at 12:15. The cost of the excursion is $1.50. Those making the trip must have permission slips from the Frankfort school office.

On Feb. 12 regular Saturday programs will be held for boys and girls in the gymnasium. Also on a trial basis, third graders are invited to attend from 10:30 a.m. to noon for sports and handicrafts.

Special field trips are slated for March 4 and 11, according to Janet Page, board secretary. The time and place will be announced later, she said.

Dan Dailey nice stage dad

By Pat Adam

What's a doting father to do when he discovers that his still young but grown up daughters won't accept that he knows what's best for them? Especially when they fall in love.

That's the dilemma faced by Dan Dailey as Robert Dean in "Holiday for Lovers," comedy now playing at Pheasant Run Playhouse near St. Charles.

Robert and his wife, Mary, played by Jeannette Leahy, are holidaying in Europe accompanied by their younger daughter, Betsy, played by Harriet Hall. Betsy is there much against her will, but Daddy wants to expose her to European culture.

Their first stop is to be Paris where the couple's elder daughter Margaret, is studying at the Sorbonne when she's not taking piano lessons in preparation for a career as a concert pianist, another of Daddy's dreams. Unfortunately he fails to let Maggie, played by Barbara Rucker, know the family is coming till just before they sail from New York. This causes complications and confusion, not the least of which is Robert's suspicions that Maggie's in love with her piano teacher, Henri, who's old enough to be her father. Henri is portrayed by Lee Young.

In gay "Paree" only a few days, Betsy falls in love with a Young American art student, Paul Gattalin, played by Bill Wiese. Daddy's a little disturbed, but his wife persuades him that falling in love at 20 is only natural and to be expected.

The rest of the play takes the holiday party to Spain, where Daddy finds bullfighting not exactly as he pictured it; to Rome, which Daddy deems "his city"; and back to Paris.

A lovers' quarrel, sibling rivalry, in-law interference are complications that mar an otherwise happy holiday, but Daddy learns his lesson . . . let the kids make their own decisions. And all ends well.

After a slow first scene, "Holiday for Lovers" picks up in the second half of the first act, and the play, though it won't send you out raving how good it is, does send you away feeling that you were pleasantly entertained.

While Dan Dailey is known more recently for his stage and television acting, he made it big first as a dancer, and he's never lost that light step. It's apparent in the way he moves on stage. He makes a nice stage daddy . . . and a cool one too. Dig that red-lined coat in the final act!

Mama's cool too. Jeannette Leahy, completely at ease as the mother of two grown daughters, drew whistles when she came out in a black evening gown the night I was there. No wonder Daddy decides to take her off alone on a second honeymoon!

Jack Callaghan is particularly good as Robert's brother-in-law, Joe McDougal. He has many of the play's funniest lines as he engaged in verbal combat with his wife, Connie, played by Roslyn Alexander.

Harriet Hall and Barbara Rucker are daughters any daddy would be proud of. Miss Hall is especially good in her scene with Paul in the Paris hotel where she's not quite ready to acknowledge her strong feelings for him and continually moves out of his embrace, making small talk.

As Paul, Bill Wiese is not too convincing as the dedicated artist in his first scenes, but his performance strengthens as the play progresses.

Lee Young seems nervous and wooden as the French "Maestro."

'Open meeting act still valid' Scariano

SOUTHWEST — County board meetings and city council meetings are still under the jurisdiction of the Illinois "open meetings act," according to the author of the statute, Rep. Anthony Scariano.

"The new state constitution does not exempt any Illinois counties or municipalities from complying with the provisions of the state's open meeting act," the Park Forest Democrat said last week.

Scariano said he has learned that several suburban and downstate communities have barred the public and the press from meetings of local governmental units, in direct violation of provisions of the open meetings act.

"These public officials say they have been advised by their attorneys that they are exempt from provisions of the Act under the home rule provisions of the new constitution," Scariano said.

"But there is nothing in the home rule provision of the article on local government in the 1970 constitution, or in any other part of the constitution, that either clearly, or by the remotest implication, relieves any local government from the provisions of the law," he added.

"Indeed, the transition schedule of the constitution expressly saves the efficacy of existing statutes such as the open meetings act," Scariano pointed out.

"I cannot help but note that the attorneys who have rendered such opinions are the same old enemies of the public's right-to-know. They are the same people who fought so strenuously to defeat the open meetings act in the legislature," the representative concluded.

Scariano was the principal sponsor of the open meetings law, which was passed by the legislature in 1967 and revised in 1969. It prohibits closed meetings of public bodies except during discussions involving litigation, acquisition of real estate, collective bargaining negotiations, or the hiring, firing or disciplining of personnel.

At a recent meeting of newspaper people from throughout northern Illinois, sponsored by the Northern Illinois Chapter of the professional journalism fraternity, Sigma Delta Chi, Scariano told the newsmen that the press must challenge immediately any effort by a public body to hold illegal secret sessions.

Sieden parents learn math

TINLEY PARK — A special meeting designed to acquaint parents with the modern math program used at the Sieden Prairie School has been slated for Thursday evening, Feb. 10, at 8 o'clock, it was announced by Supt. Donald J. Tesmond.

The speakers for the meeting, which will be devoted exclusively to Contemporary Mathematics will be Miss Rita Christensen, Sieden Prairie upper grade math teacher, Sieden Prairie upper grade math teacher, and Miss Mary Jane Reilly, grade two teacher.

Supt. Tesmond noted that there has been a great deal of positive interest expressed by the parents in learning more about the modern math program so that they can correctly tutor their children when they are in need of assistance with their homework.

Although modern math has been a part of Sieden curriculum for the past eight years, Tesmond said, this is the first instructional meeting of this type that the school has been able to schedule. "We are hopeful of an enthusiastic response."

Bills submitted for back pay

WESTHAVEN — Two former Westhaven trustees and a former village treasurer have submitted bills for their back pay to Trustee Meredith Macki, chairman of the Finance Committee.

Mrs. Macki stated at the Jan. 8 village board meeting that any village official who felt that he was entitled to back pay could submit a bill to her.

Eugene O'Brien, who served as village trustee from 1965 until May 1971, and his wife Peggy O'Brien, who served as village treasurer for 5 years, from 1965 to 1969, have submitted bills for back pay to Trustee Macki.

Former Trustee Dennis Ward also has submitted a bill to Mrs. Macki for his services. Ward served as trustee from 1969 to May 1971 when a complete new board was elected.

In 1968 an ordinance amendment was passed creating a $15.00 per meeting salary for trustees. Prior to this amendment a 1967 Ordinance had set the salary at $10.00 per meeting.

All bills submitted to date are under study by the Finance Committee.

District 228 board hears budget revisions

By Mary Straub
TINLEY/OAK FOREST — A summary of budget adjustments was presented by Wallace Carpenter, Assistant Superintendent of Business, to the board members of the Bremen Community High School District 228 last Wednesday evening.

Carpenter told the members that state aid to the district is increasing by $282,064.38 this year, making salary increases feasible for teachers, teacher aides and clerical staff.

He cited a $9,800 deficit in the building fund, explaining that salaries for maintenance and ground crews do not receive state aid. Nevertheless, the board approved the budget, granting raises to maintenance, etc., on Carpenter's advice that this area of the budget will balance when tax monies are received in July.

Marjorie Kroener, board member, then proposed a meeting with teacher negotiators to discuss next year's salaries.

The administrative center will be getting new draperies. The board also approved the purchase of various athletic items for the Tinley and Hillcrest

High Schools, amounting to $4,366.27. $2,452.50 of that figure will be regained when boys' gym suits are sold to the students. The purchase of a kiln for Tinley High's Arts and Crafts Room was postponed until one can be found carrying a more agreeable price tag than the $500 quoted.

Faculty and administration appear to be moving ahead with plans to revamp the district's school curriculum. Fred Flener, member of the board and of the Curriculum Committee, expressed dissatisfaction with progress being made, however, and suggested that some of the teaching staff—a core group—visit other schools in order to investigate their programs and evaluate new curriculum ideas in light of these models. He asked, "How can one administrator understand all the various aspects of, for example, a science or history department?"

Robert Wheat, Assistant Superintendent, said that moves could be made in many directions if there was enough manpower; but, this is costly. He said that required subjects and basic programs must still be followed. Team-teaching had been suggested as an economical measure, as was the freer use of teacher aides, but Wheat stated that team-teaching does not necessarily reduce the number of teachers needed in a school.

As a means of facilitating curriculum planning, the Curriculum Committee proposed a meeting of the board with principals of district schools, at a later date.

The Curriculum Committee and administration said they are looking forward to an improved education program in this Bremen district, and summarized their goals for the 1971-72 school year as:

1. The implementation of team-teaching, providing the student with fuller experience in any given subject; 2. Longer class periods during which the student will receive more supervised study, eliminating most study hall periods; 3. An English curriculum that includes 41 semester length courses, open to students desiring specific additional instruction; 4. Continuation of independent study systems, including workshops, clinics and seminars in addition to regular classes; 5. Revision of courses in the arts, sciences, business and education; 6. Encouragement of the use of audio-visual equipment.

Information on current and future curriculum developments can be acquired at any district high school.

Administrative assistant, Moretz, presented the board with resumes of two teachers to substitute for Mrs. Janice Struss (Hillcrest) and Mrs. Charlene Accepted by the board to teach at Bremen for the second semester of this year is Ronald Centanni, graduate of Southern Illinois University. Centanni, 29 years old, taught survival techniques in the armed forces. Zophia Kessler, 22-years old, a graduate of the University of Michigan, will move into the Hillcrest opening for the duration of Mrs. Wagner's leave.

Attention also turned to Communications, when Flener read a letter received by Lee Cox, Principal of Hillcrest High, from Charles Smith, executive director of Markham Sheltered Care Workshop. Smith commended Hillcrest student, Rose Tompkins, for her unselfish behavior during the Christmas holidays. Miss Tompkins volunteered a good deal of her free time to the Markham center for mentally retarded and mentally handicapped persons.

Lake water for Tinley

(Editor's Note: This is the conclusion of a two-part series by HERALD writer Jean Wille concerning the supply of water in southwest Cook County.)

By Jean Wille

It must be remembered that per capita use of water in a community is increased by industries, and industrial activities tend to increase more rapidly than total population.

It is probable that the domestic rate of demand per unit of population increases slowly with population, but it is industrial expansion which tends to increase the per capita use of water most rapidly. Studies vary in estimating the average use of water per person from 50-70 gallons per day for home use. However, demands for a total area, including population and industrial growth, increase 150 gallons per day per capita.

Tinley Park is experiencing growth above the national average not only in homes being built, but also in potential growth of manufacturing and industrial businesses. Interstate highways have created potentialities in Tinley Park that will be increased even more, if and when another airport comparable to O'Hare is built in Will or southwest Cook County.

Tinley Park's Long Range Plan Commission and Industrial Commission are involved in negotiations involving great growth patterns.

Growth predictions vary considerably for the area and much will depend on sanitation provisions, water supply and flood control. All three areas are presently being worked on diligently by elected officials as well as qualified volunteer citizens who are serving on various committees and commissions.

Cost factors, in determining whether Tinley Park continues with municipal wells and possible importation of water, or, obtains Lake Michigan water, are very important. However, guarantee of source is obviously more important. The possibility of water deficits in shallow, deep and deep sandstone aquifers does exist in the future of the six county area.

According to the Illinois Water Survey, the costs of raw water will increase as the water levels decline. The cost of treating the raw water (the least known component of cost) with additives for aesthetic reasons, as well as for taste, odor, color and turbidity (measure of the resistance of water to the passage of light through it), has the greatest effect upon the cost of the final product.

Variation or errors in the cost of raw water are unlikely to influence significantly the cost of treated water. When large quantities are used, according to the Illinois water survey, treated ground water will probably be cheaper for most townships than a source of surface water (Lake Michigan), depending on the continued availability of ground water.

Raw water is treated for other reasons also. Economic reasons include the minimizing of laundry costs (softening) and industrial purposes (certain chemicals present in raw water are extremely detrimental to industry and manufacturing) regarding corrosion.

Chemically pure water is not found anywhere in nature because of the almost universal solvent power of water. Natural waters may be polluted by drainage from rural or urban regions. Polluted water is defined as an otherwise inoffensive water fouled by sewage or other liquids or suspensions rendering it offensive to sight and smell and unsatisfactory for drinking, domestic or industrial purposes.

Surface waters provide the most common source of large municipal supplies, but, because of the almost universal pollution of ground surface, the sanitary quality of natural surface waters is universally considered to be unsafe for use as a public water supply without treatment. Good surface water should be saturated with dissolved oxygen and should have a chloride content no higher than normal for the region. Chlorine is the only disinfectant in general use for public water supplies.

Common methods of treating public water supplies include sedimentation, filtration through sand and additives for disinfecting, softening and prevention of corrosiveness.

Though most of the earth is covered by water, much of mankind is presently faced with a shortage.

According to the World Book, 1966 supplement, The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) inaugurated the International Hydrological Decade on Jan. 1, 1965, to study the world's water supply for a 10-year period.

If drinking water was our only requirement, there would be enough for everybody. Each person needs only about three quarts daily in beverages and wet foods. However, fresh water also is needed to bathe, wash clothes, dispose of waste, water lawns and fight fires.

Fifty gallons a day are taken from the soil by an average tree; 3,000 gallons in food and water are used to produce a pound of beef; 40,000 gallons are needed to make the steel in one car. Adding up all our needs in the United States, 16,000 gallons of fresh water are actually required every day to support the accepted standard of living for each person in the United States.

The earth's supply of water is fixed; we cannot increase it. We can only find where it is, transport it to where we need it, and decontaminate it of salt and other impurities so that it is suitable for continued use and reuse.

An example of continental engineering to solve the problem is the Ralph M. Parsons Company plan for distributing water throughout wide areas of North America. Under this plan, rainfall in Alaska and Canada that now drains, unused, into the Pacific and Arctic oceans would be diverted to water-poor sections of the continent. This project, however, would require excavation of reservoirs and canals equivalent to more than 100 Panama Canals. And before work could begin, hydrologists would have to check for potentially harmful side effects.

The shortage of water will remain a problem for the world as well as the six-county area studied by the Illinois State Water Survey until man has definite facts, not estimates and predictions, regarding the water supply and workable solutions for solving the problem.

Any breakthrough in the world problem will probably come first in the areas of large visible bodies of surface water. Therefore, taking into consideration a long range view of the projected demand versus the availability of ground water, population and industrial growth, and the close proximity of sufficient surface water it is the belief of the HERALD that the village of Tinley Park should enter into an agreement with the City of Oak Lawn for Lake Michigan water, providing that a satisfactory agreement can be reached regarding contractual assurance of reasonable cost and supply.

Progress on constitution lagging

Ray Garrison, a Flossmoor attorney, who had filed to run as an independent Republican candidate for the Illinois house, but later withdrew from the race, because of what he claims was intense pressure put on his workers by rich Committeeman Everett Klipp; recently took the state legislature to task for what he claims is a foot dragging attitude in implementing the new state constitution.

Garrison speaks with some authority on the constitution since he was a con-con representative and helped draft the new constitution.

Garrison says that the legislature has failed to determine the size, manner of selection and compensation under the state board of elections. The board is required under the new constitution to supervise the registration and election laws of the state.

The constitution also creates a state board of education which then appoints the chief state educational officer. The number of members of the board, their qualifications, terms of office and selection have not yet been determined by the legislature.

According to Garrison no funds have been appropriated by the legislature for operating the new judicial inquiry board.

In an election year it appears that our elected state officials are more interested in image making legislation as providing an ethics bill to show how honest they are rather than worrying implementing the new constitution.

Garrison presents some valid arguments in inquiring about the delays, we hope the voters of the state will be concerned, enough to ask their local candidates for the state legislature just why the constitution hasn't been implemented when they meet the incumbent candidates face to face in the coming months.

Bills will help senior citizens

Senator Charles Percy has introduced three bills and five amendments into the United State Senate which would immeasurably aid the countries senior citizens.

The bills are: 1. Increase the amount a person can earn and still qualify for social security from $1,680 to $2,400 immediately, and to $3,000 by Jan. 1, 1974.

2. Provide for automatic increases in social security benefits as the cost of living increases.

3. Give widows the full social secu-urity benefit instead of the 82 1/2 per cent they now may receive.

The five amendments are: Extending medicare to the coverage of out-of-hospital prescription drugs which amount to 20 of out-of-the-pocket health cost for the elderly.

Restore full deductibility for medical expenses from older persons incomes subject to federal taxation.

Have a single agency administer nursing home standards and to license and inspect long-term care facilities.

Create a training program for state nursing home inspectors under the direction of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and Authorize $17.5 million in the next four years for the program.

Authorize $35 million over the next four years for demonstration programs designed to rehabilitate in-patients of long-term care facilities.

We think the Percy bill and amendments are good ones and urge all senior citizens to write their senators in support of the bills.

A view of field and stream

By Glenn Logan

Hunting and fishing are two pastimes that many persons enjoy, men, women, young fry and oldsters.

Some indulge because they like to be out in the open and see for themselves how Nature is getting along with its production — animal, vegetable or mineral. They don't really have to shoot anything or catch any fish to have had an enjoyable day.

But for others an enjoyable day means a full bag or a full string. And there are some for which it is a necessity, if they are going to have meat on the table.

Where you live, of course has a lot to do with it. Around these parts there isn't much to hunt, except for pheasants in the fall and rabbits in the winter and the fishing is pretty much limited to bullheads, crappies, bluegills, perch and in some rivers one finds catfish and bass. Lake Michigan yields a great variety fish, including smelt.

Then too around here business is business. If a man closes his store or shop and left a penciled notice on the door? "Gone fishing," or "Gone hunting," people would think he had a couple of loose tiles.

Whereas, in the hill country in the South where the rivers, creeks and even spring fed branches one can try for a variety of fish, many of them fighters, and the hunting too is attractive, such notices are not uncommon and are readily accepted.

"By golly," a prospective customer will say, "old Tom is right, it is a grand day to go fishing (or hunting as the case may be). It's too nice for working. . . think I'll go myself," and away he goes.

And if a man is up all night following the hounds after coon or 'possum, he offers no apology for not opening until noon, nor is any expected. After all, one is entitled to some enjoyment.

The State Department of Conservation is working to build up the animal and fish populations of Illinois to preserve hunting and fishing. Last week the Illinois Nature Preserves Commission met at Chicago to discuss the endangered species of animals in the state. The session dealt with plants as well as animals. It was pointed out that it is impossible to separate the two since they are dependent upon one another.

It looks like it is going to be a close race between the Nature Preserves people and the bulldozer addicts who appear hellbent on turning the countryside into one big, overcrowded, complex of Townhouses, apartment buildings and individual homes.

The same mail that brought the news of the Nature Preserves conference also had an item to the effect that those over 65 years of age in Illinois can save $2 on a hunting license after Jan. 31. The price to anyone younger is $3.25 but to the senior citizen it is $1.25. His fishing license is less than the regular fee too, — 50¢. Everyone else, including teens, pay a full price for either.

The conservation department is also operating classes for new, old, and young in the fundamentals of safe hunting. Many farmers and small town residents will be glad to hear of this, providing of course that the program goes further than just to insure that these prospective hunters will not shoot themselves.

It is to be hoped that at these hunting classes the pupils will be given actual views of cows, horses, pigs and sheep, at close and far-off range. This is important because rarely does a hunting season pass without some hunter downing a piece of valuable livestock under the impression that it was a pheasant or rabbit.

Pheasants and chickens don't look alike but they have one thing in common — feathers. That may account for the annual slaughter of chickens by hunters. But as for horses, cows, sheep and pigs it should be easy for even city people to know that they have little resemblance to pheasants. Pheasants only have two legs. Perhaps that is why one hunter shoots another, thinking he is a pheasant.

Legislators will try again for passage of parochial bill

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois Supreme Court set public aid to non-public schools back at least six months Monday, Jan. 17, and challenged the governor's right to change legislation through his amendatory veto.

Three parochial bills passed the legislature last year after Gov. Richard Ogilvie sent them back with recommended amendments. Implementation of the bills was delayed, however, by Auditor Michael Howlett's request that they be tested in court. The bills provide up to $30 million in state aid to non-public schools.

Jan. 17 the court ruled the "substitution of complete new bills, as attempted in the present case, is not authorized by the constitution."

One of the bills' sponsors, Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, said he is disappointed with the court's action but is "very optimistic" that new legislation will be passed in April.

"It is unfortunate the court temporarily disposed of the state aid to non-public school bills on a technicality and in the process avoided the constitutional issue," said Schlickman. But by doing this there is almost an invitation by the court to the legislature to re-pass the bills as they were amended last fall."

John Cardinal Cody, archbishop of Chicago, said he is also confident the legislature will pass parochial in April.

The first bill calls for public school contribution of textbooks and auxiliary services to non public school students. The public school would, in turn, be reimbursed by the state for the expense.

Rabbits, of course, have fur which could be confused with the hair on horses, pigs and cows, and the fleece of sheep. Rabbits too have four legs. This should help the budding hunter to differentiate the rabbit and man. Study and observation will also show rabbits are much smaller than any farm animal. They move more rapidly too.

There is no excuse, though, for a hunter to mistake a house for any game bird or animal. A house doesn't have feathers, fur or hair. Neither does it run, hop or move about. Yet residents in small towns will tell you that hunters come right into villages, taking potshots at the dwellings.

The safe hunting school should do a good, especially if they get them young enough. Any boy who can identify the different kinds of cars today and the models of aircraft in use can certainly learn the difference between a pheasant and a pig and distinguish a live duck from a decoy. And if he learns to carry a gun broken in the field and never point it at anything he doesn't intend to shoot, the classes will have accomplished a great deal.

The second bill provides for scholarship support to non public school students from poverty-level families. The parent of a non public school student must turn a voucher in to a public school for the scholarship. Again the public school would be reimbursed by the state.

In the third bill, the state is authorized to pay a public school a grant for cooperative programs between public and private schools.

All of the bills put the control of state aid into the hands of the public school in order to avoid "excessive entanglement between church and state," which was ruled unconstitutional last fall by supreme courts in other states. The governor vetoed the original bills and proposed amendments to conform to this court ruling.

The court has not yet ruled on the constitutional implication of the amended bills. Schlickman plans to seek passage of the bills in their amended form this spring. He says he is satisfied the bills will be upheld as constitutional.

"We have three options before us now," said Schlickman. "We can ask the court to review the amendatory veto issue. We can take the House bills now in Senate committee and amend them as the bills passed by the legislature were amended. Or, finally, we can introduce new bills."

Letters to the Editor

Editor:

I was very disappointed about the Orland Park sewage treatment plant and the illegal honey wagon dumpings into the Orland Park sewers and through the plant story, in what it did not say. In my opinion the story did not get at how bad and dangerous the situation is and how important the help of the people is in the matter.

Basically a sanitary treatment plant is delicate since it is a living thing that can die or be wounded. The very simple idea behind sewage treatment from the largest plant to a home septic tank is for the good bacteria to eat up the bad bacteria in the raw human wastes.

The bad bacteria are those that can hurt people. If the good bacteria are killed or lessened at the plant then a danger to public health can be created. It can also cost the taxpayers a considerable amount of money to make the situation right again.

If the bacteria are harmed or destroyed then extra amounts of chlorine must be used in the final stage to kill any bad bacteria and viruses that have gotten through the plant. This chlorinating is done anyway at all plants. If you can not smell chlorine in the final effluent then the plant is not working properly. When such a situation is discovered yell for help to those who have the responsibility.

If the plant bacteria are harmed an interesting situation exists. MSD is fearful that some penny chisling nuts will dump industrial wastes into the Orland Park sewers that is full of oils, greases, acids and other industrial chemicals that will harm the plant. Most of the MSD people have kids too and know from their training and experience of the dangers of the situation.

Ben Sosewitz, Metropolitan Sanitary Districts General Superintendent has said, "Local sewers are a local responsibility of local officials". In essence local responsibility is of the people and by the people. In the case of local sanitary treatment plants, if the local people do not care enough to keep an eye out for illegal honey wagon dumpers and are unwilling to become involved to the extent of picking up the phone and calling the local police or MSD, then the local people have no one to blame but themselves if a disaster takes place. May God save us one and all from the gross indifference of citizens.

The following is an open letter to Mr. Liedtke for publication in your newspaper.

Mr. David Liedtke
President, School District 140
16540 Robinhood Drive
Tinley Park, Illinois 60477

Dear Mr. Liedtke:

I would like to congratulate you on the outstanding manner that you conducted yourself under the very difficult circumstances at the School Board meeting of January 28, 1972.

I could easily see your dedication in searching for a new and more promising solution to the problems of our district which made your decision all the more difficult in delaying the proposed 45-15 day extended year plan.

It always is very difficult to make a decision of this magnitude and at the same time please all the voters that you serve. I believe you demonstrated both a sensitivity to the voters as well as maturity in your efforts to resolve a very complex problem of finding enough housing for the school children of our district.

Our school board needs the support of the residents of our school district if we are to get out of our current dilemma. We all should urge our residents to become more familiar with the current and future needs of the children of our district and to assist the board in finding solutions. The challenge that lies ahead for you and your board members can only be met through the support of the people who must better understand their needs and be willing to work hard towards solution.

If I can be of any service, please feel free to call upon me.

Sincerely,
Richard D. Durkin
Resident of School District 140

Editor:

Apparently the taxpayers of District 140 do not feel they can handle any more higher taxes. Why doesn't the school board try and pass a small bond issue, then, to finish the safety code requirements?

Palmer backs state's attorneys legislation

The efforts of Rep. Romie J. Palmer (R-Blue Island), principal House sponsor of a series of State's Attorney's bills, were recently successful when the bills were signed into law by Governor Ogilvie.

The eight bills signed by the Governor are part of a package of 23 bills presented to the Legislature by the Illinois State's Attorneys Association and are designed to strengthen the ability of the State's Attorney's office to achieve convictions.

House sponsorship of the bills was assigned to Rep. Palmer, Vice Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, who worked closely with various State's Attorneys and fellow Legislators to determine which of the bills were without constitutional conflicts and would continue to afford protection for accused persons. The 8 bills passed by the Legislature were those presented as having merit and as being on sound constitutional ground.

The bills were introduced jointly in the House and Senate by Rep. Palmer and by Sen. Robert Egan (D-Chicago).

Although the bills were heralded by adverse publicity and were often opposed by major metropolitan newspapers, the same members of the media later lauded Rep. Palmer's impartiality and legal ability in his handling of the controversial bills.

Rep. Palmer was able to make the bills legally sound and also to continue to protect the rights of defendants in cases coming under the jurisdiction of State's Attorneys.

The new laws are the culmination of years of efforts to strengthen the enforcement powers of the State's Attorney's office.

A Thought To Remember

BY BOB HIRSCH

A Peace Corps Volunteer was assigned to a backward country a few years ago. Her job was to educate people to wear shoes or sandals so they would not get worms . . . To cut down on their chewing of cacao leaves because it dulled their initiative . . . To be sanitary in order to eliminate disease . . . To learn better nutrition . . . To respect other people's property so that there would be no need for vicious dogs, adobe walls with broken glass encrusted on top to thwart thefts.

She is now back in the States and associated with a large University. She complains that students go barefoot everywhere but to class . . . They smoke pot . . . They throw garbage out of windows . . . They eat mostly hamburgers, pizzas and French fries . . . They steal university property and from each other without any real need . . . In her complaint she asks how can we tell other people in other countries — "Do what I tell you, not what I do?"

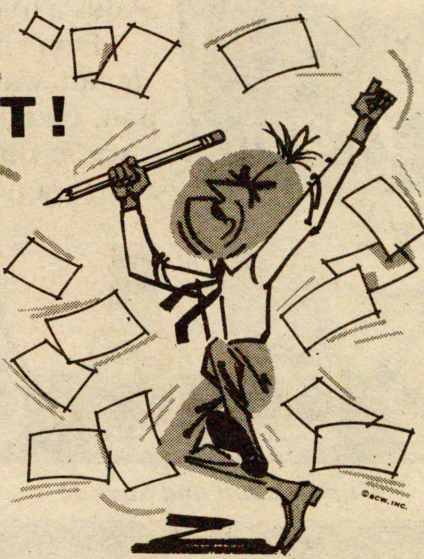

She has a point. But — her indictment of ALL college youth is an exaggeration of a partial truth. In fact, it is a twisted truth that has lost its temper.

District 230 may quit SW Co-op

TINLEY PARK — "I'm paying your costs, and I want you to pay your costs," William Fischer, 230 superintendent, told the board of directors of the Southwest Special Education Cooperative. At the Coop meeting Jan. 27, Fischer said that some schools are getting sufficient state aid rebate on their special education expenses, but others are not.

Fischer said he believes that high school districts pay a disproportionate share into the Cooperative, supporting many elementary schools which also have special education classes.

Co-ops were set up when school districts realized that their budgets couldn't facilitate classes for handicapped children. Blind, deaf and multi-handicapped children are bused to whichever school is equipped to provide them with special courses. There has been some dissatisfaction within the Southwest Cooperative regarding its future structure and present operational costs.

Superintendent John Flynn, 228, said that at present the operational cost is figured on the average pupil attendance day. He said, fees should be on the basis of actual enrollment in an area. Flynn agreed to go into this matter in detail at the next meeting.

A revision of the Cooperative program by using one of three alternatives was suggested by Fischer: 1. Stay with the present program and try to resolve existing conflicts; 2. Dissenting individual schools could withdraw from the Cooperative and carry on their own special education programs; 3. There could be a complete reorganization of the Cooperative by one of three means: a. Divide it into 3 area Co-op's, 128, 228 and 230 high school areas; b. Completely restructure the present Co-op with elementary and high school divisions; c. There could be two types of membership, participating and affiliating. "It is our general opinion that we like the 3a the best," said Fischer.

"Numbers alone would suggest this alternative," he said. The student population of Palos, Orland, Lemont, Bremen and Blue Island is roughly 42,000; in the next five years the total number of students could reach 125,000. A bigger district would naturally experience bigger problems. Fischer explained that the three separate cooperatives would have nothing to do with each other except in low incident matters.

Board member, Everett Kerr, said, "The welfare of these kids is our top consideration. Financial arrangements can always be worked out, but is it better for the kids to have three co-operatives? If this more adequately serves the pupil, then we'd better face up to a change."

Richard Riffel, superintendent, 118, agreed that a too large Cooperative could be unfair to the kids. He said, "Where would we go when a district has more than one high school? It's difficult for the cooperative to have to meet the needs of youngsters going to different places."

It was suggested by Chairman Sykuta, that persons interested in solving the problem—if there is one—meet with county representatives for recommendations. If inequity does exist regarding payment per pupil, some kind of proposal will be made to that group for thrashing it out.

Dr. Thomas, from 218, reminded the board members of the problems a withdrawing high school would encounter; for example, 218 doesn't have facilities for the handicapped student. It would be necessary to determine what program is to be implemented, and then decide what the cost would be and how it would fit into the school's budget.

Flynn suggested that a committee be appointed of state and county officials and interested board members. This committee would examine present operations and structure of the Cooperative, including the various proposals made by high school districts.

It would report back to the executive board by March 30.

The board approved the payment of invoices amounting to $20,820, excluding legal fees of $83.75 until a later date.

Benjamin Braun, Director of the Cooperative, submitted a proposal to hire Paul Breite as a special education teacher at Lemont High School.

Braun also recommended district participation in the South Metropolitan Association (SMA) Diagnostic Center in Homewood. He said that participation in SMA would be at no cost to the cooperative. Written proposals by Braun have been mailed to the 24 school superintendents, inviting their comments on the plan. The board decided to waive approval until the plan has been reviewed by the attorney.

Language dept. reflects needs

By Wayne Carroll

(Foreign Language Dept. at L-W High)

NEW LENOX — The foreign language program at Lincoln-Way High School reflects the changing needs and interests of today's high school students. Not so many years ago foreign language programs were geared only to college bound students and consisted of rote memorization of tables and charts. Many students elected foreign languages because colleges required them for entrance.

Today the picture has changed as new pedagogical methods have been employed and realistic goals adopted for students. Grammar is less emphasized in favor of conversational practice and a healthier dose of cultural and historical background. While many foreign language students are college bound, vocational, agricultural and commercial students can now be found studying German, Spanish and French.

Total language enrollment this year exceeds 400. The most popular language remains German, due in no small part to the tremendous number of families of German ancestry in this area. Spanish is also heavily attended, as in French. Interest in Latin has dropped sharply over the past few years, but Lincoln-Way offers instruction to those students with interest in this culturally rich language.

Many students now elect to take a foreign language because they are interested, not because they are required by a college. In these classes they are exposed to history, music, literature, art and political systems which broaden their outlook on life and enrich their educational backgrounds. Much of this material is not available in any other course.

Modern teenagers are looking into the future and see many possibilities for obtaining satisfying and rewarding work employing to some degree their language abilities. Many salesmen and technical personnel, for example, receive higher salaries for working in Europe and South America using their language training. One need not be a linguist to site this added knowledge as reason for employment over less qualified individuals.

The audio-aural approach is emphasized at Lincoln-Way. Students are presented with typical dialogues in daily class work. The language lab provides taped practice and special teacher supervision exposing the students to voices and dialects in the native tongue. The biggest challenge in teaching a foreign language is to encourage students to use the language outside the class. Language clubs help.

Another help is the vacation tour. This year a group of students will have the opportunity to practice their language during spring vacation in Germany and Austria. Summer and full year study programs abroad are also available.

The quality of language instruction has risen over the past decade as teachers enter the profession with more experience and better training. Formerly it was not uncommon, if undesirable, to find foreign language teachers who had never visited or studied in the country whose language they taught. The total years experience at Lincoln-Way of the relatively young faculty represents over 15 years abroad. This allows for added insight and knowledge of the foreign language and the culture.

As the years pass, more students will elect a foreign language in preparation for the ever expanding American commercial markets in Europe as well as a desire to share the culture of another people. The foreign language faculty is constantly seeking ways to make foreign language more relevant to both college and commercial and vocationally oriented students.

Old time dancing planned for Feb. 11

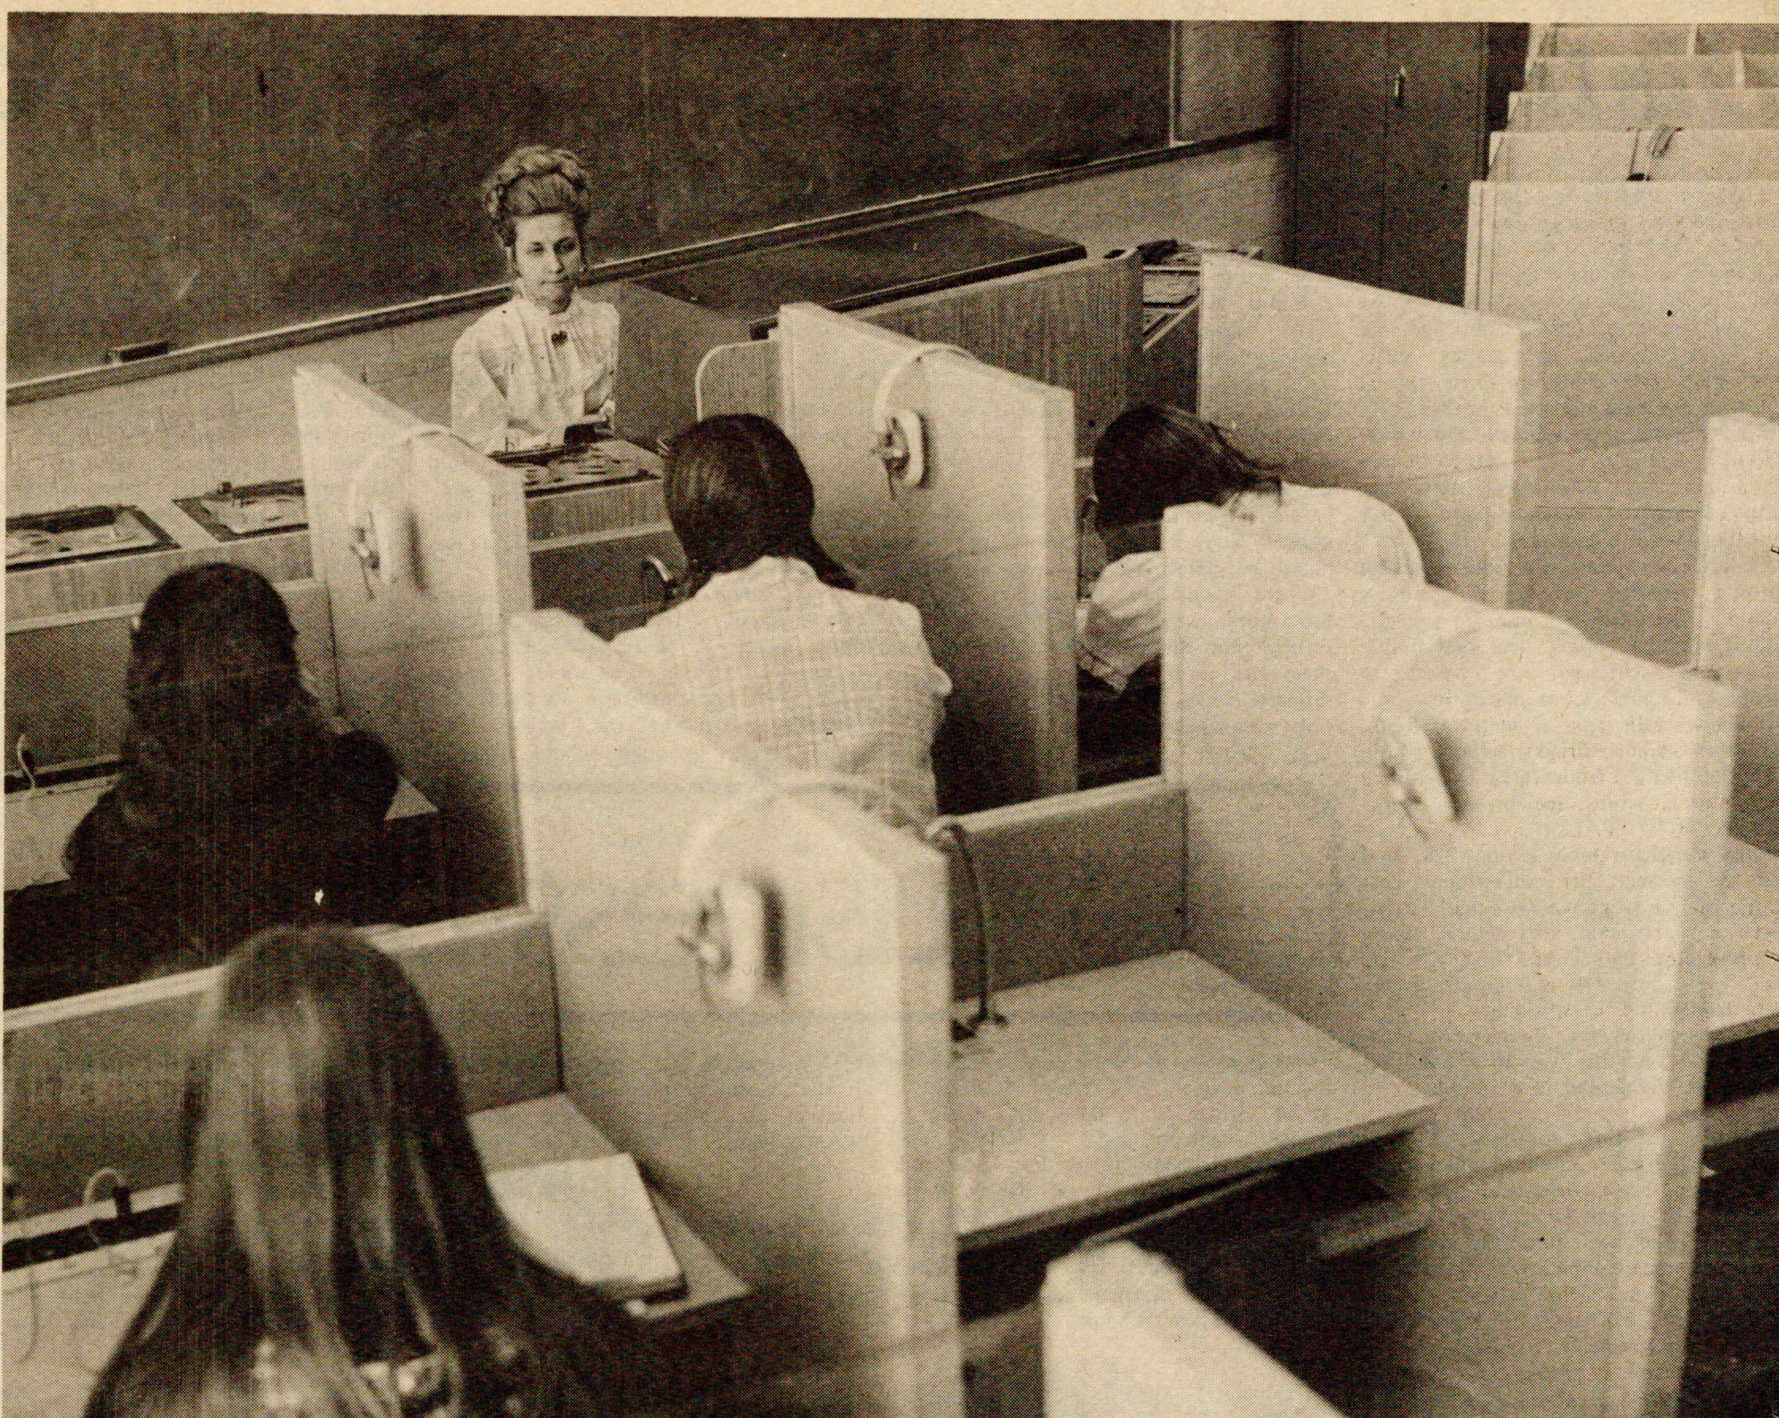

NEW LENOX — An old time dance, featuring waltzes and polkas, is to be held in the Exhibition Hall at Francis 4-H Field, Francis Road, Friday, Feb. 11, from 8 to 12 p.m. The dance is sponsored by the Will County Threshermen, the organization that stages a steam engine show annually at the 4-H Field.

The donation will be $1, according to those in charge, and the affair is open to the public. Music will be provided by Shorie Zuppa's band.

Bombranch barn is gutted by fire

NEW LENOX — Fire of undetermined origin swept a horse barn on the John Bombranch place, Marley Road, last Thursday afternoon, causing damage estimated at $7,000.

About 60 per cent of the barn was destroyed and 120 bales of hay.

Miss Mary Lou Barbic, chairman of foreign language department at Lincoln-Way High School, is working here with some students in a laboratory class. These cubicles where students sit and listen to foreign language tapes are called carrels, which in itself has a foreign touch.

Suburban Living

ESPECIALLY FOR THE FAMILY

'Carnival' fare at Lincoln-Way in May

NEW LENOX — Curtain time won't be here until May but already work has been started on the music department's spring musical "Carnival," at Lincoln-Way High School.

Dates for the production are May 4-5 and 12-13. Randolph F. Kummer will direct the musical and Charles Stark is stage director. Auditions for the parts in show that had a 21-month run on Broadway, are to begin this month. Casting will be announced later.

The technical staff for the production has been chosen. Students directors are Wendy Wieringa and Jan Nissen; the business managers are Jim Homering and Jay Surma; Debbie Ballard is house manager; Beth Kurns, choreographer; Jan Staehling, technical director; Shirley Walsh and Diane Wadsworth, scenery; Vicki Pelley and Brenda Seeley will have charge of costumes. Lisa Kurns and Edwina Warlick are handling publicity and Charlene Burns and Pat Gordon are in charge of properties. Bobbie Marshall and Donna Cieply will handle make-up. Sue Neilis and Melody Walters have charge of programs. The head of the music department is Robert Taylor.

Lisa Kurns has been, sending out a news releases dealing with show. "Carnival," she says, is the stage musical version of the movie, "Lili," a romantic story set in the tinselly world of a small time circus showing in the villages of southern France.

In the eyes of Lili, an orphaned waif who wanders onto the show lot, its shabby tents become a magic world. She becomes enchanted with the suave magician, while a shy, lame, inarticulate, gloomy puppeteer, loses his heart, to her but can only express his feelings through his puppets.

The book was written by Michael Stewart, who authored "Bye, Bye Birdie," and the lyrics are by Bob Merrill who wrote the music of "Take Me Along," and "New Girl in Town."

His lilting, haunting "Loves Make the World Go Round" runs through "Carnival" as a theme and some of its other hit tunes are, "Beautiful Candy," sung by Lili and puppets, "Yum Ticky."

"I've Got to Find a Reason, and 'Always, Always You.' Another of the outstanding musical numbers is the "Grand Imperial Cirque de Paris," in which the puppeteer's assistant day-dreams of making the big time in the French capital.

New Lenox bank sets dividend

NEW LENOX — A stock dividend and plans for an addition to the present banking quarters were announced following the annual meeting of stockholders of the New Lenox State Bank. A 50 per cent stock dividend was declared when the capital amount of the bank was increased from $200,000 to $300,000.

The stockholders also voted for:
1. Capital debentures of $200,000;
2. A CPA audit replacing the board of directors' quarterly audit;
3. For the sale of 1,000 shares of stock to current stockholders, and
4. To increase capital stock from $300,000 to $400,000.

The stockholders also elected directors—Ceward W. Batson, Carl R. Batson, Archibald Corp., Dwight W. Egle, Sheldon W. Hauck, Ernest G. Oram and Frank E. Vranicar. Elected by the directors are the following officers: Dwight E. Egle, executive vice-president and cashier; Gary J. Orler, vice-president; Francis J. Kluge, assistant vice-president, and a new officer, Thomas G. Tapella, assistant cashier.

Stockholders heard that 1971 was an excellent year, in fact the best of the 45 years the New Lenox State Bank has been in existence. The total assets from Dec. 31, 1970 to Dec. 31, 1971 increased from $11,880, 127.11 to $16,037,325.44, a gain of $4,157,198.33. The deposit growth was 35 per cent and loans showed an increase of $2,200,568.38.

The new addition to the bank will be a one-story structure, 60 by 80 feet, and will join the present building on the east side. It will be constructed so another floor can be added later, if needed, it was explained. Four drive-up facilities will be added on the south side of the new addition. Construction is scheduled to begin this spring. The architects are Mayes and Williams, of Glen Ellyn.

Tax forms to be late this year

SOUTHWEST — Several important tax forms will be late in reaching taxpayers this year, it was announced by Internal Revenue Service.

Among the late arriving forms will be IRS Form 3468, Computation of Investment Credit, which is of concern to many Illinois farmer and business taxpayers. The main reason cited by IRS for the delay is the fact that tax law changes were passed late in 1971 and, in order to accommodate the changes, many forms had to be extensively revised. IRS is making every effort to make the delay as short as possible.

Taxpayers will not be greatly inconvenienced, however, because some forms will be late.

Parents class at Silver Cross

Classes are free to the public and both parents are urged to attend. Sessions will meet Tuesday and Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Inservice Classroom from Feb. 3 - 17.

Volunteers will be available at the Maple Road main entrance to guide class members to the program area.

For information and enrollment, prospective parents may call Mrs. Joy Grohar at 729-7518 between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

'Correctional facilities expected to work miracles'

SOUTHWEST—"Our correctional institutions are expected to work miracles. We just can't do it without the public's help," said Mrs. Margaret Morrissey, superintendent of the state reformatory for women at Dwight. "The community must give a person the opportunity to work and a chance to regain his self-respect." Mrs. Morrissey spoke at the mid-winter meeting of District 11, Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs in Carol Stream last week.

Mrs. Morrissey began by giving a brief history of the facility. In 1914 a group of interested women began to study the problems of women and girls confined in the county jails of the state. They felt the need for a separate institution. Mrs. Morrissey noted, for adult women offenders. The group failed in its first attempt to obtain funds from the state legislature for the building of a facility.

Over 10 years later in 1925, the women organized themselves into the Illinois Women's Joint Legislative Council, which included representatives from 12 state-wide women's organizations representing over 300,000 women. Through the efforts of the council, funds were appropriated to build a facility for the adult female offender. Construction began at Dwight and the first residents were admitted on Nov. 24, 1930.

At the present time, 114 women are housed in the Dwight facility, with an additional 12 in a work release center. According to Mrs. Morrissey, the population is low compared to previous years. She commented that an all-time high of 329 women were housed in 1962, but the number has declined steadily since that time.

Women offenders must be at least 18 years of age to be sent to Dwight. At present, the youngest is 18 and the oldest is 56. The prisoners average 31 years in age, and usually remain at the facility for about two years.

Of the total 114 inmates, 36 percent were convicted of murder or manslaughter, and 16 percent violated the narcotics laws. At least 33 percent were known to be drug addicts.

"The rehabilitation is an on-going process," said Mrs. Morrissey. After being admitted to Dwight, the women are confined in the hospital for orientation and medical and psychological evaluation. The offenders are then placed in one of a variety of programs geared to their individual aptitudes and interests, she stated, which will train them for employment or homemaking.

Dwight offers both grade school and high school level classes so that the women can complete their educations while confined. The high school diploma is granted through the Livingston County Educational Region. There are 10 students in grade school classes and 11 in high school courses.

In addition, college classes are offered by television from Chicago City College. Sixteen students are involved in this program.

A comprehensive secretarial course is offered in connection with Joliet Junior College, which teaches shorthand, typing, office machine operation and other skills. The class meets for seven hours each day, five days each week, and is taught by a member of the JJC staff. Fifteen women are enrolled in this course at all times.

A school of beauty culture, which is fully accredited, graduates 10 students each year. The women also have the opportunity to work in Dwight's garment factory or laundry.

The women live in eight small cottages, which have French Norman architecture. Individual sleeping rooms occupy the second floor of the cottages. The cottage living "provides training in good house-keeping methods," said Mrs. Morrissey. There is one honor cabin which remains unlocked at night.

The women eat in a central feeding unit. Here the women also may learn culinary arts and kitchen skills by preparing approximately 15,000 meals per month. The central kitchen is the newest facility at Dwight; it was opened on July 17, 1967.

The Dwight work release program (adult field services) is designed for "carefully screened women" who meet requirements set by state statute. The aim of the program is to help the woman "establish satisfying interpersonal relations with others under a controlled situation. The women have counselors who help to establish an individual program for each woman.

Realignment involves 26 teams

SOUTHWEST — Old conference ties were broken last week when the South Inter-Conference Association realignment committee voted to realign 26 teams into four new leagues. The four leagues will make up a conference temporarily identified as the Central Conference, but permanent conference name has yet to be worked out.

The South-Central division of the conference is made up of Crete, Tinley Park, Rich South, Oak Forest, Bradley and Kankakee East and Kankakee West.

Neither Kankakee schools were considered in the original realignment, but both schools had petitioned the association for membership.

West-Central division will be made up of Sandburg, Rich East, Hillcrest, Thornwood, Reavis and Oak Lawn.

North-Central Division is made up of Bloom, Richards, Thornton, Thornridge, Homewood and Eisenhower, the East-Central division is made up of Lincoln-Way, Evergreen Park, Bremen, Stagg, Rich Central and Thornton Fractional North and South.

The realignment must be accepted by 12 of the 15 school district representing the schools involved for final adoption March 1. If approved the new conference would go into effect for the 1973-74 sports season.

If three districts do not accept the realignment the three districts would then have to form their own conference or choose to play an independent sports schedule.

Last week the Lincoln-Way School district approved the realignment. Joe Kruczich, Lincoln-Way principal and district superintendent said the school was "happy with the realignment," but that the Knights would have liked to have gone into the South-Central section, but couldn't because of the school's successes.

Schools were realigned so that none would dominate or be inferior. Lincoln-Way which presently plays in the Southwest Suburban Conference would not be able to compete in gymnastics competition within its own division, because Rich is the only other school in the league with a gymnastics team.

Teams would have to play at least seven conference football games and 14 basketball games to be eligible for a division title. The total games necessary for a title would necessitate cross scheduling between divisions. The system for cross-scheduling has yet to be worked out.

Lincoln-Way would probably continue to have a strong rivalry with Bremen and Evergreen Park, both members of the Southwest Suburban Conference.

Bengals beat varsity units

OAK FOREST — The Oak Forest wrestling team is 3-0 against varsity competition this season. The record isn't very impressive until you realize that coach George McClarence has only sophomores on the team because Oak Forest is only a two year school, with no junior or senior class yet.

The two wins enabled the Bengals to end the season with a 9-3 dual meet record. First the Bengals beat Kankakee East varsity 49-6, and then stopped Providence varsity 48-16.

As usual Jim Pauly started things off at 98-pounds against Kankakee with a 6-2 win. Bob Kubat pinned at 105 and Scott Carlson won 5-3 at 112.

Tom Donohue and Tim Gerdes pinned at 119 and 126, and Ray Nolan won easily 11-1 at 132. Mike Jarmocz pinned at 138 and Dave DiPaolo won 7-0 at 145. Dave Foss pinned at 167, and Bob Reno pinned at 185.

Against Providence Kubat and Carlson both pinned and Donohue won by default when his man couldn't continue. Jarmoncz, DiPaolo, Foss and Reno all pinned for the Bengals.

Oak Forest, one of the two new schools in the conference, (the other is Rich South,) was seeking membership in a conference in time for the 1973-74 season. Oak Forest is now a two year school and will be a four year high for the first time at the start of the 1973-74 season.

Without the Realignment Oak Forest would have probably been admitted to the Southwest Suburban and Rich South to the Southeast Suburban Conference. In the new division Oak Forest-Tinley Park games shape up as a new natural rivalry.

Carl Sandburg athletic director Joe Devine said the realignment wouldn't change things much for Sandburg with Reavis, Oak Lawn and Rich East. Our division has four of the eight teams that made up the Southwest Suburban Conference," Devine said.

Tinley Park athletic director Thomas Young was not happy with the realignment as far as his school was concerned.

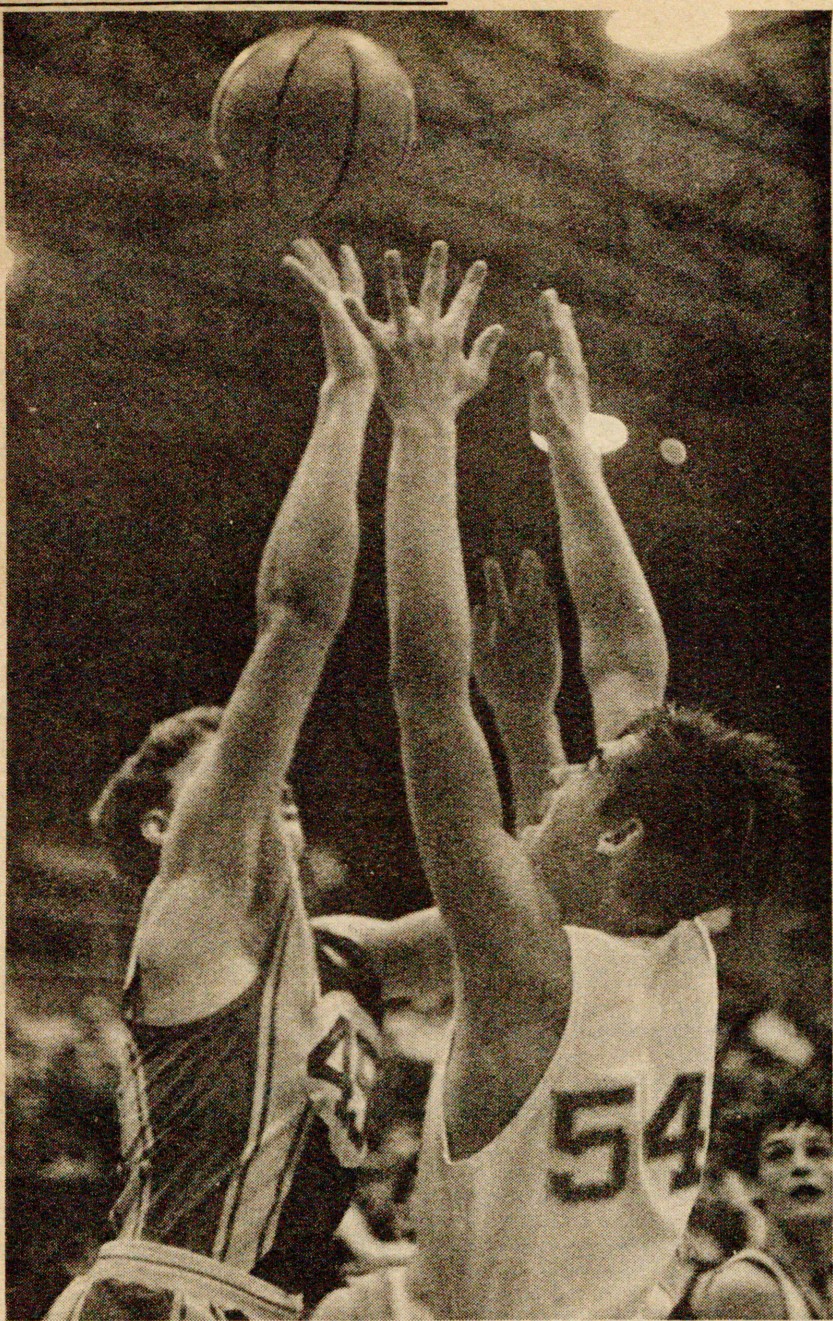

As a member of the Southeast Suburban Conference our schools had worked up conference by-laws that I considered second to none. We had a set of rules to meet almost every contingency, and now this won't be the case," Young said.

"Another problem according to Young is the traveling time involved for games with teams such as Kankakee, Bradley and Crete. It will particularly create a problem for the soph football team. Their games are usually at noon, and when you figure the time it takes the kids on the team to get to Tinley Park, suit up, plus other general preparation, then the actual traveling time to the game the kids are going to have to have to be at the high school pretty early in the morning to get ready," Young said.

Another problem Young felt his team would have to face would be increased night games during the football season. "Crete and the Kankakee schools play mainly night games, and crowd control is much more difficult at night games than it is in day games," Young said.

Time spent in traveling could also create problems for baseball according to Young. Weather and darkness often play a part in shortening games, particularly late in the afternoon, early in the season. The Tinley Board is expected to vote on the realignment either at its Feb. 8, or Feb. 22 board meeting.

Randy Lindstrom of Tinley Park gets ready to take a tip off in a game with Thornton Fractional South Friday at Tinley. Fractional handed the Titans their seventh loss of Southeast Conference season, 76-72.

Titan cagers lose pair of league outings

TINLEY PARK — The Tinley Park basketball Titans suffering through one of their worst seasons dropped a pair of Southeast Conference games over the weekend.

First the Titans lost to Thornton Fractional South 76-72, and then fell to Crete 73-64. The double loss leaves the Titans in the conference cellar with a 1-8 mark.

Against TFS the Titans lost the game at the free throw line where they made only 28 out of 50. Tinley tied the score 72-72 with 30 seconds left to play, but two steals by TFS produced the games final four points.

The loss was particularly frustrating for the Titans who had fought from a 40-28 halftime deficit. Steve Bettenhausen, led the Titans with 21 points, and Jack Triesenberg pulled down 14 rebounds.

Against Crete the Titans played catch-up most of the way, and were behind only 49-47 late in the third period, but then Crete broke the game open, and moved on to win. Bettenhausen paced the team with 17 points and Triesenberg had 15.

This weekend the Titans take on two conference foes hosting Rich Central at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 4, and traveling to Stagg Saturday for an 8 p.m. game.

Knights fall to Rockets

PARK FOREST — Lincoln-Way's cagers enjoyed the luxury of having sole possession of first place in the Southwest Suburban race for just a little over a week.

Friday the Knights had to make room for Rich East at the top of the pack as the Rockets exploded for a 63-30 win over Lincoln-Way. Both teams now have 7-2 league records. Lincoln-Way is 12-5 for the season.

Led by all-state candidate Terry Ryan the Knights started fast with an early 10-3 lead. Todd Dickerson, a 6-1 sophomore, who gave away four inches to Ryan was put on the Knights high scorer and suddenly the complexion of the game changed.

Rich took over and with 6:29 left to play held a surprising 57-42 lead. At this point the Rockets went cold and failed to score for three minutes, this lapse, plus four turnovers enabled the Knights to put on a rally that just fell short, after closing the gap to 61-58 with 17 seconds remaining.

Ryan who dropped in five baskets in less than three minutes at the start was guarded so closely by Dickerson that he hit only four baskets in the next 2½ quarters, but still paced the Knights attack with 24 points.

At times the Rockets man-to-man defense, and the close guarding of Ryan left the Knights guards open but the Knights seemed too intent on moving Ryan around the court for an opening to pay attention to their guards. Friday the Knights play a conference game at Bremen and Saturday travel to Richard for a non-conference outing.

Sandburg pins three victims

ORLAND PARK — The wrestling Eagles of Carl Sandburg won three in a row over the last weekend to up their record to 10-8.

The Eagles took on Bremen and scalped the Braves 41-8 to even their conference mark at 3-3.

Mark Butz opened the scoring for Sandburg with a 5-2 win. Mike Bronson followed with a 13-0 drubbing of his opponent. Dennis Fitch won on forfeit.

George Little and Dan Presbeterio followed with 15-0 and 7-0 whitewashes. Russ McGill fell 6-5 but co-captain John Walker followed with a pin. Joe Thell, Chuck Cretell and Jim Webster all won.

Dave Kettman was pinned but his older brother Mike got revenge with a pin of his Bremen opponent.

On Saturday in a triangular meet with Hinsdale and Thornton the Eagles came away winners against both teams. Sandburg crushed Hinsdale 30-15, and Thornton 39-15.

Mark Butz won both of his matches as did George Little, Dan Presbeterio, John Walker, and Dave Kettman.

Mike Kettman pinned both of his matches to make it three in a row in the pin department. "We are wrestling real well lately, with the healthy Mike Kettman in the lineup it makes a lot of difference," said Coach Don Schultz. "Also, I feel we are reaching our second peak, the first was the second place finish in the Rich East tourney, and with the prospect of having a completely healthy unit in the near future things are looking brighter," Schultz said. The Eagles last dual meet of the season is this Friday at Reavis at 7 p.m.

Tinley wrestlers tie victory mark

TINLEY PARK — The 1971-72 edition of the Tinley Park wrestling team tied the all time record for most meets won. The Titans swept past Bradley and Bloom last week to complete their dual meet season with a 12-3-1 mark.

The dozen victories ties the previous high of 12 recorded by a Titan team. Coach Steve Axelrod saw his team roll past Bradley 34-9, and Bloom 32-10.

The Titans will now prepare to host the Southeast Conference meet scheduled for this Thursday and Saturday. First round action Thursday will be at 6:30 p.m.

Saturday action will be at 10:30 a.m. with the finals at 2 p.m. Last year Tinley Park finished third in the conference meet which was won by Rich Central. Hillcrest was second. During the season

Second round play underway in grade basketball league

ORLAND PARK — The Southwest Interscholastic Conference second round of action started January 25th with Arbor Park's lightweights destroying Conrady 60-20.

Palos kept pace with a 40-14 decision over Tinley Central. Don Westerhausen managed six points for Central but Bill Rogers 14 and Steve Lumley's 10 made it no contest.

Orland Park stayed close to the leaders by defeating a scrappy Kirby five, 31-21. Pat Nelson led Orland with 11 and Jerry Steinborn added seven.

Ken Retz led a balanced effort with six for Kirby. John Lawrence and John Cronos had seven points for Arbury Hills, but Bill Lyons hit eight and Mike O'Donnell added seven to lead a team effort for St. Mikes.

Orland Park continued its winning ways in the heavyweight division by topping Kirby 55-38. Doug Lindeman held a hot hand for Kirby with 18 points and Bill Harlen chipped in with 12.

Marty Murphy played an outstanding game for Orland with 16 points. James Stawartz hit 18 and Mike Liniewski, playing steady both ways added 8.

Palos outlasted Tinley Central 47-42 despite Paul Schiefelbein's 20 points. Chuck Horvath poured in 23 points for up and coming Palos.

Arbor Park kept pace and ran its record to 7-1 by handing Conrady a 50-40 defeat.

St. Michael's Ray Mollo canned 19 points but needed help from Mike Revord and Larry Ferguson to stop Arbury Hills 37-34. Earl Cullison had 16 points for Arbury.

Arbury Park's lightweights continue to win the big games as they pulled away from St. Michael's in the last two minutes to score a 46-36 victory.

Ken Culp drilled in 17 and Keith Stark added 13 for the winners. Ray Studinanz had 12 for St. Mikes. Palos downed Conrady 49-24 with Dan Fredricks collecting 16 points. Dave Pink was high for Conrady with 7.

Orland Park whipped Tinley Central 46-24 as Pat Nelson tossed in 15 points. Mike Borghard led Tinley with 9.

Arbury Hills earned its first victory of the season by dumping Kirby 19-13. John Cronos led the victors with 8 points while Rick Davis had 6 for Kirby.

In heavyweight action, Orland Park's perfect record was almost ruined by a tough Tinley Central quintet. Tinley led by as much as 16 points before Orland scrambled back for 55-51 decision. Jim Stawarz led Orland with 20 points while Tinley got a sensational effort and 22 points from Chuck Phillips.

Arbury Park trounced St. Michael's 54-33 with Dan Goessel ripping the nets for 25 points. Mike Revord had 12 in vain for St. Mike's. Palos continued its hot streak by surprising Conrady 53-46 in overtime. The contest was knotted at 46 all as regulation time expired. In overtime it was all Palos as Eugene Leonas took game honors with 25 points. Tim Magnuson popped 15 in for Conrady.

Kirby stopped Arbury Hills 50-40 as Doug Lindeman and Bill Harlen combined for 29 points. Earl Cullison and Don Rutan also totaled 29 but Kirby's scoring depth proved to be the difference.

Providence splits in weekend action

NEW LENOX — All season the Providence basketball team has been flirting with the 500 mark. The Celts maintained their even up relationship last week by splitting weekend action.

Friday Providence lost a Private League game to Timothy Christian 71-60, and the next night hung on to win 60-59 in a non-conference game against Quigley South.

Overall the Celts are 9-9 and have a 4-5 Private League mark.

Led by Steve Cant, who finished the night with 18 points the Celts took an early 15-11 lead over Quigley, after breaking an early 9-9 tie.

Aided by seven turnovers the Celts held a 16-12 second quarter advantage. At the end of the third quarter Providence held a 43-33 edge, but then Quigley began to move. With 5:25 remaining in the game Providence led by ten, but a Quigley surge cut the lead to 56-53, but then Quigley moved ahead 57-56.

A basket by Joe Priebuy put the Celts back in the lead 58-57, but with 12 seconds left Quigley moved back in front 59-58. After a timeout the Celts took over and Cant hit a ten foot jumper with two seconds left.

Friday holding a 59-54 lead the Celts put on the stall against Timothy only to see it backfire. Twice the Trojans converted two turnovers into scores, and went on from there to the win.

The Celts played good ball against the much taller Trojans, as they played a man-to-man defense which produced nine steals, five by Priebuy. Providence shot 51 percent from the field in the first 30 minutes of action. The Celts offense displayed balanced scoring with Priebuy leading the way with 17, followed by Roy King with 16 and Gant with 13.

Friday the Celts meet conference foe Little Flower in Chicago and Saturday host Joliet East in a non-conference game at 8 p.m.

Sunrise Heating took a second place with a 8-1 mark by edging Orland State Bank 27-24.

Cooper Show Ford finished third with a 7-2 mark by dumping Winless Dick's Shell 50-10.

Three Sons gained fourth place, the last playoff position, by trimming State Farm 27-20.

Rafacz Brothers went out in winning fashion blasting Plaza Barbers 43-21.

The playoffs began Feb. 1.

The first game will pit IGA vs. Three Sons at 6:30 p.m. with Sunrise Heating vs. Cooper Show Ford following.

On Thursday the two losers will meet for the runner up spot at 6 p.m. with the championship game following. February 10 the two all-star games will be played starting at 6:30 p.m.

Track clinic is a success

NEW LENOX — Track Coach Joseph Rodriguez of Lincoln-Way High School was well pleased with the acceptance of the track clinic he conducted recently at the Sheraton-O'Hare Hotel.

There were 485 coaches, from colleges and high schools that attended, making it the largest affair of its kind ever conducted in the United States. The clinic was sponsored by the Dill Company, which specializes in track equipment.

It was a four-day program and the coaches in charge of each session were tops in their fields. Remarks from those who attended indicated they were well pleased and that the clinic would be a great help to them.

Rodriguez was chosen to direct and organize the clinic because of his success as a high school track coach, especially in his development of distance runners. David Merrick, of course, has won national fame for his brilliant performances over the distances but Rodriguez also developed other fine runners who are making their mark in college circles.

He has been engaged to operated another clinic next year.

Tinley beat Rich Central 24-18, and lost to Hillcrest 29-20. The Titans were 5-1-1 against conference foes this season.

Against Bloom the Titans started off with a 4-4 tie at 98-pounds. Steve Brocius won 4-0 at 103.

Bill Hancks, who made his season debut against Bradley turned in a 5-5 tie at 119-pounds. Rick Zolner pinned at 132; and Randy Reagan, turned in one of the seasons highest scores, winning 25-0 at 138-pounds.

Bill Frankenberger won 2-1 at 145, and Bob Martin won 1-0 at 155. George Miles had an easy 16-6, 167-pounds win and Mike Melroy won 4-1 Rick Aggen closed things out at 1-0.

Canucks prove hot on the ice

This past Friday night at the Morton-Gingerwood School the action was fast and exciting as the Gingerwood Athletic Association's regularly scheduled hockey games saw the Canadians square off against the Blackhawks in the first game.

The Canadians started off fast and with only two minutes gone in the first period Canadian John Morgan scored his first goal, followed two minutes later by Canadian Jim Ford with his first goal.

Four minutes later John Morgan intercepted a Ranger pass and on a break-away knocked in a 15-foot shot from the side.

Twelve minutes into the first period John Morgan made a 20-foot lifting slap shot that evaded the Blackhawk goalie for another tally.

With one minute left in the period Jim Ford fired a fast shot through a maze of defensemen for his second goal.

With only 15 seconds left John Morgan came through with the last goal of the first period.

The second period was scoreless as the Blackhawk defense tightened up. Many shots on goal were fired by both teams but with no scores.

The third period started off with two more goals by John Morgan at one minute and at two and one-half minutes, followed 30 seconds later by Jim Ford's third goal.

The Blackhawks tried to mount an offense but were thwarted by the defense of the Canadians and Goalie Kevin McGregor.

Six minutes into the third period Canadian Kevin Joyce slapped in a 15-foot goal from a difficult angle. John Morgan made a 23-foot slap shot for his seventh goal, followed by his eighth with a shot from the side one minute later.

The final score of the game came with just 10 seconds left when Kevin Joyce rammed home a pass from Morgan. Final score - Canadians 13, Blackhawks 0. The shut-out was the first of the season for any team.

The second game between the Rangers and the Bruins was one of superb defense by both teams. Ten and one-half minutes of fast action elapsed before Bruin Jeff Lyons made a 15-foot slap shot that eluded the glove of the Ranger goalie for the first score of the game. At the end of the first period it was Bruins 1-0.

The Rangers came storming back in the second period when Ranger Mike Gorszyk (his first game to boot) slammed a 20-foot blazer that the Bruin goalie had no chance of stopping.

The action and fast shooting seemed to increase as the game went on and six minutes into the period Bruin Bill McGregor put his team into the lead again with a 15-foot slap shot.

Two minutes later Bruin Jim Dohrn fired a shot through a mass of defensemen for the Bruins third goal. At the end of the second period it was Bruins 3, Rangers 1.

The third period was another one of good defense and 9½ minutes had elapsed before Mike Gorszyk brought his team to within one goal when he scored a 15-foot backhand slap shot from the side. This proved to be the final score of the game. Final Bruins 3, Rangers 2.

Oakview is winner in quadrangular

NEW LENOX — Oakview Junior High School wrestling team won a quadrangular meet over the weekend, competing against St. Mary of Mokena, Troy and Morris.

New Lenox scored 86 points. Morris was second with 76, Troy had 53 and St. Mary 36.

The meet featured 19 weight classes starting out at 50 pounds and winding up with the heavyweights.

Placing first for Oakview were Dave Jeffrey, 70 lbs.; Steve Skiniotes, 85 lbs.; John Jackson, 95 lbs.; Jim Stein, 110 lbs.; and Chip Connor at 120 lbs.

Second place finishes were scored by Kirk Weidman, 50 lbs.; Al Skiniotes, 55 lbs.; Rodney Beard, 60 lbs.; Mark Jackson, 65 lbs.; Lee Krohn, 75 lbs.; Craig Huttenhoff, 90 lbs.; Clint Plante, 105 lbs.; Steve Hunt, 115 lbs.; Bob Hancock, 127 lbs. and Bill Shroba, 145 lbs.

Third place for Oakview were: Bruce Swanson, 80 lbs.; Dave Shrout, 100 lbs.; Mike Mager, 135 lbs. and Paul Nelson, heavyweight.

St. Mary dominated the lower weights, coming up with three champions. Dale Slusarski, at 50 lbs.; Donald Schofield, at 55 lbs. and Dennis Slusarski at 60 pounds.

St. Mary also had three second places with Pat Geary at 70 lbs.; George White, 120 lbs. and Steve Jacob, 75 lbs. Doug Slusarski finished third in the 85 lb. class and Ken Sitzberger finished the same in the 105 lb. class.

Sandburg has no net gain

The Carl Sandburg Basketball team experienced a rough weekend thanks to the Spartans of Oak Lawn and the Cardinals of Blue Island-Eisenhower. The Friday and Saturday foes. Oak Lawn nipped the Eagles Friday, 53-50 and Blue Island trounced the Eagles 60-37.

The Oak Lawn game opened with both teams shooting poorly from the floor and the score at the end of the first quarter was 12-9 Oak Lawn.

The Spartans started to pull away early in the second quarter and went to the locker room as 25-16 leaders.

The Eagles started to move the ball better in the third quarter and cut the Spartan lead to one point. The fourth quarter saw both teams moving well with the lead never exceeding four points, leading by one point with 11 seconds remaining.

After the pass inbounds to guard Jim Koranda the Eagles moved in under the tight Spartan defense. With five seconds left center Greg Grimm desperately attempted a long jump shot which just missed. The scramble for the ball resulted in two Eagle fouls which accounted for the last two points. On Saturday a tired Eagle squad hosted the Cardinals from Blue Island who on Friday had been beaten by defending state champs Thornridge High.

The Cardinals were out for revenge and got it. They outscored the Eagles 18-5 in the fourth quarter and went to the showers with the final tally at 60-37. The two weekend losses drops the overall Eagle record to 5-12, and the conference record to 3-6.

This Friday the Eagles travel to Reavis High to face the Rams, a team they beat at Sandburg December 17. 70-46. Saturday's battle will find the Eagles facing one of the top teams in the state, Chicago Christian, whose only loss has been Thornridge. Christian has Don Noort, a very tough 6-8 senior at center. The Eagles remember Noort from last year when he was instrumental in trouncing them in their annual meeting.

Eagle tankers doing well

ORLAND PARK — Carl Sandburg's swimming Eagles made it nine in a row at Reavis last Friday by crushing the Rams 75-20.

The win has lifted the Eagle record to 10-5 on the year and a perfect 4-0 Southwest Conference mark.

With only one conference meet remaining Sandburg is assured at least a tie for the conference championship.

Evergreen Park, 3-1 in conference, will invade Sandburg's pool Friday to decide the conference championship.

Against Reavis the Eagles just swam right over the Rams without any trouble. Both Eagle relay teams were first.

Jim Mantell won the diving honors without much trouble. Al Gillberg Jr., an outstanding freshmen swimming varsity, placed first in the 200-yard individual medley, and the 100-yard freestyle.

George Merijohn won the 50-yard freestyle and Don Tanis was a first place finisher in the butterfly competition.

Tom Kaptur won the 200-yard freestyle. After losing five out of their first six meets the Eagles have been unbeatable and have to be the Cinderella team of the Southwest Suburban conference.

Sandburg was picked no higher than third this year in conference and is running away with the title.

The Eagles have all juniors and underclassmen swimming except for four seniors. With a very strong squad on the frosh-soph level the Eagle Swimmers look to be powerhouses for years to come under coach Alan Gillberg.

New Lenox presently has three trophies for winning three major tournaments, the Apolo Junior High tourney at Des Plaines; the Lockport Boys Club and the Joliet Park District tourney.

This Saturday the Oakviews travel to Rock Falls to participate in an eight-team tournament.

Sports Shorts

ORLAND PARK — Registration for the 1972 summer sports program will be conducted by the Orland Youth Association from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 5 and Feb. 19, at the High Point School, 14825 West Avenue. All children who reside in Orland Township have been invited to join. There is a $3 per family membership fee.

The Boys Leagues are: Peanuts, 7 and 8 year olds, $8; Minor, 9 and 10 year olds, $8; Major, 11 and 12 year olds, $9; Pony, 13 and 14 year olds, $15; and Colt Traveling Teams, 15 and 16 year olds, $15.

The Girls Leagues are divided into three age levels: 7-9 year olds, $7; 10-12 year olds, $7; and 13-15 year olds, $7.

The OYA board has urged all parents to cooperate to make this a successful year. Volunteers are needed for a position on the board, commissioners and managers of teams. Interested persons may call Ray Estand, 349-2853 or Charlene Hassel, 349-9065.

ORLAND PARK — Carl Sandburg's new gym will open in the fall of 1972. The gym will seat 4000 spectators and is 100 square feet in area.

Balconies will be on both sides of the gym with wrestling on one side and weight machines and gymnastic equipment on the other.

There will be two entrances from the cafeteria in addition to the regular ones. Coaches offices and two health rooms are also included.

Below the balconies will be large locker rooms. The outside entrance to the gym is glassed and the huge hallways will benefit the cheerleaders for practice.

The other two regular gyms will be given over to the girls when the new gym is opened.

Sandburg will remodel the present wrestling room into a dance studio with the existing locker rooms to be decorated into dressing rooms for the girls. Both the wrestling coaches and the basketball coaches feel the extra room will help both practices and should create more fan support.

MACOMB — Jim Kulpa, a 1970 graduate of Tinley Park High School, is currently on the injured list of the Western Illinois University wrestling team.

The sophomore grappler sports an 8-0 record this season and was undefeated last year. So far this season, he has pinned three opponents and has provided the third highest total of team points for the squad. He wrestles in the 177 pound weight class. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kulpa.

The WIU wrestling squad is undefeated this season through four dual meets and three tournaments. Dual meet victims of the Leathernecks are Augustana College, perennial powerhouse Winona College and Wisconsin State University in River Falls.

The grapplers have taken the championships of the Eight State Invitational Tournament, the MacMurray Quadrangular, and the Northwest Missouri Invitational Tournament.

ORLAND PARK — After two weeks of bowling into the new season two teams remain undefeated at 6-0. Blib and Zoner are the two teams in the Carl Sandburg Bowling League who currently carry the perfect records.

In last Wednesday's action, Fred Nichols led all bowlers with a 605 series. Others with 500 plus series were Ron Armour - 519, Dave Kellar - 515, and Cerise Pearson - 505.

Currently the high average bowler is Bob Bugel of Orland Park with a 175 average pins.

The Saturday morning Palos Lions Bowling League statistics finds Hank's Tank in the League lead, just ahead of Formula Five. Patty Macey and Mark Schultz of Carl Sandburg High led the boys and girls with a series' of 522 each. They were followed by Henry Murillo at 514, and Gary Haislet at 509.

TINLEY PARK — The Annual Sweetheart Skate, one of the most popular on the Ambassadors For Christ schedule, will be held on Monday, Feb. 7, at the Tinley Park Rink, 17658 Oak Park Ave.

Skating begins at 7 p.m. and runs until 10 p.m. Admission is by donation of $1.25 per person and skaters are required to be in high school or older. For those desiring to rent rink skates, they are available for a nominal rental fee.

The top-notch mid-point program includes the Rev. Wayne Angel, 160 N. Raye, Chicago Heights, as special guest and music by the Ambassadors For Christ Choristers under the direction of Ralph Cox, 147 Forest Blvd., Park Forest.

Also at this time the Traveling Trophy will be presented to the largest delegation present along with five free tickets to the next AFC skate. Free tickets also are awarded to the groups taking second and third place in the attendance contest.

CROP report shows '71 drive surpasses effort during 1970

By Virginia Sass
JOLIET — Contributions of $2,271 were received in the 1971 CROP campaign in Will County, according to William Polley, chairman.
This is a considerable increase over the 1970 total of $1,865. The campaign was conducted by mail during November and December and through an advanced gifts drive headed by James Tilsy of Mokena.
"Contributions to the 1971 CROP Illinois state campaign topped $200,000 for the first time since 1963 with a total of $207,884," said the Rev. Lowell E. Brown, Illinois director. "This was an increase of more than 10 percent over 1970 receipts and reflects the dedication and hard work of a lot of people in Illinois."

CROP is the Community Hunger Appeal of Church World Service. In many parts of the world, people need help to fight their own root causes of hunger, it was pointed out, so CROP sends better seeds, provides fertilizer, helps develop water resources and sponsors family planning clinics.

CROP also administers the Church World Service clothing Appeal in Illinois. Clothing collections amounted to 243,537 pounds, a substantial reduction compared with former years. But cash donations have increased to more than $55,000. Of that amount $32,298 will be used to purchase 10,776 blankets for emergencies and disasters.

The other $22,867 will be used to pay costs of processing the clothing and blankets for shipment overseas. Twelve major disasters and numerous smaller ones are covered on the average by CWS each year.

Other members of CROP who worked on the campaign here are Edwin Dempsey, Joliet, chairman of the board of directors; Elmer Lauterbach, Plainfield, vice-chairman; Sue Pajak, Lockport, secretary; Alexander Brown, Wilmington, treasurer, and Allen May, Joliet, publicity director.

Cottingham fills vacancy

MOKENA — Cadet Cottingham has been seated on the Mokena Grade School Board of Education to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Norman Patterson, whose work schedule makes it impossible for him to serve.

Cottingham, a resident of Brightwood, is active in the Chamber of Commerce and civic affairs, and is in the insurance business. He is a member of the village industrial commission.

He was appointed to the board at its regular meeting last week and was seated at the same session. His appointment terminates at the April election. Whoever is elected April 8, will serve out the year remaining in Patterson's term.

The board decided that it will mail out its quarterly fact-finding sheet — giving detailed information of district affairs — beginning with the issue March 1. Formerly the sheet was sent only to parents and delivered by their children when they brought their report cards home. Under the new system every person who receives mail will get a fact sheet. The board felt that the public should be kept informed of all aspects of school affairs.

Fred Kiesler, district curriculum director, reported to the board on the achievement tests given last spring.

Candidate filing Frankfort reports open to March for library post honor roll students

FRANKFORT — Four members are to be elected to the board of trustees of the Frankfort Public Library District on April 11. Candidates must file nominating petitions with Marian Nordsell by March 1.

Black petitions and statements of candidacy may be obtained at the library, 27 Ash Street.
To be eligible a candidate must reside within the library district and be a registered voter. The library district is roughly identical with the boundaries of the Frankfort Grade School district, plus what was formerly the Ann Rutledge Grade School district prior to it becoming a part of District 161.

Librarian Arlene Santoro said that normally only two trustees are elected at one time. However, if a vacancy is filled during a year by appointment the appointment lasts only until the next regular library election. At that time someone is elected to fill the unexpired term.

In the April 11 library election two six-year terms are to be filled, plus a four year term and one two year term. Additional information may be obtained at the library.

FRANKFORT — Honors for the second grading period of the 1971-72 school year have been announced by the Frankfort Grade School.

High honors for sixth grade are: Victoria Knippel, William McAndrew, David Niemi, Peter Schultz, Elizabeth Skrzypczak, Chris Warning, Vickie Wirth, Wendy Eisenbrandt, Christine Ostergren, Debra Hossbach, Laurie Martin, Jacqueline Storm, Virginia Witt, and Heather Wohlfert.

Seventh grade are: Donna Ashbridge, Leslie Damm, Kathleen Sosnowski, Lisa Kozlowski, Drew Oosterbaan, Richard Otto, Laura Pasquinelli, Cheryl Urbanski, Jill Adams, Karen Baumgartner, Lori Lorenz, Robert Roy and Tim Walsh.

Eighth grade are: Gregory Freeh, Michelle Fritz, Mary Hendricks, Mary Kohlhausen, Cathy Newby, Catherine Novak, Amy Rudman, Jennifer Stebbins, Kathryn Witt, Deborah Adams, Cindy Biga, Marcia Brown, Mary Beth Knoll, Susan Anderson, Janie Belcher, Patricia Drummond, Doreen Schroeder and Jeffrey Warning.

Honors for the sixth grade are: Theresa Walsh, Jodie Cifelli, Michael Dean, James Keener and Scott Rosenberg.

Seventh grade are: Randy Baum, Timothy Foster, Leonard Japp, Susan Nissen, Ellen Putman, Jolene Fullerton, Marcia Reid, Linda Charnesky, Mary Ellen Drummond, Randall Maitland, Susan Park, Debbie Quackenbush, Nancy Tauber and Dale Tewes.

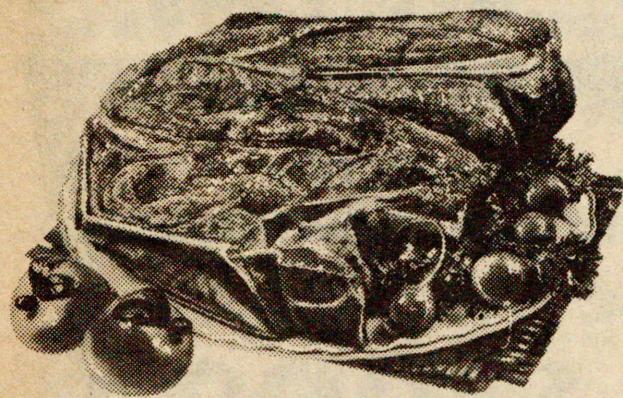

Eighth grade are: Lori Charnesky, John Foster, Ted Gerndt, Dennis Holm, Paul Knaff, Hope Mossell, Mary Mueller, James Smith, Mark Krundick, Jeffrey Tauber, Carla Baumgartner, Sharon Jadcak, Susan Piha, Helene Romb and John Sandmann.

Library petitions available at Mokena

MOKENA — Nominating petitions for candidates for the Mokena Community Public Library District may be obtained from the secretary, Marcella Lehmann at the library, Cross and Union Streets.

The library election is slated for April 11 and three places are to be filled on the board. Two are for six-year terms and the other is to complete an unexpired term of four years.
